

Preface

We are very pleased to present our new journal the “Archives of Biological and Biomedical Research(ABBR) ”, a new biannual open access journal affiliated with Merit University and published as one of the series of the Natural Sciences Publishing, USA. This journal will meet the growing need of many researchers and colleagues in the field of biology and biomedicine for straightforward submissions, timely peer review and fast publications. The wide scope of ABBR will help contribute to a great measure of scientific knowledge in biology and medicine. The journal will publish original researches, reviews, case reports and editorials.

The Journal is using a system for easy on-line tracking and managing of the manuscript processing. Each article undergoes a peer review process. To be acceptable for publication, an article should be favorably considered by three referees with Editor’s consent. The members of the scientific board are of different specialties in biology and biomedicine from different research institutes all over the world. The board will be responsible for the proper quality of the accepted manuscripts.

As we are appointed as the chief editors of ABBR journal, we are glade to invite the researchers from the areas within the scope of the journal to submit their work.

We hope to receive your assistance as authors, editors and reviewers to develop the journal as one of high quality reputation in the field of biology and biomedicine. We will do our best to ensure high editorial level in the published and printed issues.
